Captain David Cromwell Leaving Township Force After 28 Years of Service

Adding up his years of service to Princeton Township, including his 28 years on the police force and 25 years with the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, it is hard to deny that Police Captain David Cromwell, of the Township Police Department, had earned the right to retire.

By way of announcing his retirement, Captain Cromwell told members of the press on Tuesday that he was presiding over his last press conference. The lifelong Princeton resident says he plans to divide his time between Princeton and Waretown, a spot on the Jersey shore where he keeps a boat.

Health problems forced the issue, Captain Cromwell indicated on Tuesday. He suffered a heart attack in December of last year, and began to experience more difficulties this summer. Although the problem is now under control, he says, "it made me realize that life is too short."

A 1961 graduate of Notre Dame High School, Captain Cromwell served in the U.S. Navy for four years after high school, most of that time aboard the submarine Andrew Jackson.

He returned to Princeton, and worked at various jobs before deciding to join the Police Department. He attended Police Academy in Sea Girt, and graduated first in his class. becoming a member of the force on January 1, 1968.

Captain Cromwell spent 21 years as a patrol officer in the Township, earning a number of distinctions during those years. Above his badge, he wears the insignia denoting the Township's Medal of Valor, and Lifesaving Medal.

The medal of valor was awarded to him in the 1970's, after he apprehended a man who had abducted a 13-year-old girl. The suspect was at-

Council Members Concerned About Princeton Master Plan

A lot of things go into forming a town, but fow are more important than housing, health care, roads, and the downtown shopping area.

With the Planning Board beginning to develop a new master plan for Princeton, members of Borough Council had asked for an opportunity to provide input into the early stages of the plan. Last Tuesday night they had their chance, when Planning Board Chair William Enslin came to the meeting to hear Council's concerns.

Focusing first on housing, Councilman David Goldfarb said that units in the price range immediately above affordable housing are lacking in Princeton, and that ho didn't see a lot of progress in devoloping these. "Let's find a place for this housing, where developers can come in and make money."

Mr. Goldfarb also pointed out that most of the housing in the center of town is non-complying, and suggested that the Planning Board look not only at vacant land but also at changing existing zoning to create more units.

Additional housing for seniors interested Councilman Roger Martindell, who said that his mother, now 81, is living in a house that is too big for her. "She has no place to move to in Princeton, and I don't see anything on the drawing board that can answer her needs."

Mayor Marvin Reed reported that thero is considerablo interest on tho part of the Medical Center in expanding Merwick and using the land around it as a site for indopendent living senior housing. He said thore was quite a bit of land available for this purpose, and that this was unusual since there is virtually no vacant land left in the Borough.

Jaywalking Across Nassau Won't Be Only Way to Cross

A Princetonian's dream might include the safe crossing of Nassau Street from Cox's to Thomas Sweet without the neod for head swiveling; being given some new downtown parking spaces; turning from Nassau Street south onto Harrison Street without having to stand behind a long line of cars; and having a green arrow to help with the difficult turn from Harrison Street left into downtown Princeton.

This will now be a dream come true, courtesy of the State DOT.

True, it took the DOT ten months to grant these requests of Borough Council — requests the Borough had to have approved because Nassau Street is a State highway. But other Borough requests have taken longer to be granted, and some have fallen so deeply through the cracks that they completely disappeared.

New Palmer Square V.P. Sees Changes in Future

London-born David Newton, Palmer Square Management's new vice president, would like to see more stores and offices on the Square. And he wouldn't mind if the stores included the likes of Brooks Brothers, Ralph Lauren, Smith & Hawken — and a new smoke shop.

Mr. Newton has taken over Palmer Square's top management and leasing spot from Jerry Berner, who is retiring. He credits Mr. Berner for "maintaining Palmer Square's integrity during the worst real estate recession since the 1930s, and a time when the financial side of the Square was definitely troubled."

The 39-year-old graduate of the University of Manchester and the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School has lived in Princeton since 1983, and is the first Princeton resident to head the Palmer Square operation. His two sons attend Johnson Park School.

Mr. Newton came to town to manage Commonwealth Realty Trust, in which his family in England had an interest. As president of Commonwealth, he bought 22 Chambers Street (now owned by Princeton University); built a retail center in Yardley, Pa., with Jim McCaffrey of McCaffrey's; bought an office park at the Princeton Junction train station; and built the Plainsboro Town Center.

But the young developer became best known for the purchase of Lower Pyne from Princeton University. He meticulously renovated the building and upscaled its retail tenant from the Suburban Bus terminal to Hamilton Jewelers.

When the Borough's Historic Preservation Commission looked at plans for Lower Pyne, it said the exterior should be brown and white instead of black and white. Mr. Newton was able to pull out

Crosswalk

The new Nassau Street crosswalk, in the mid-block between Vandeventer Avenue and Moore Street, will require removing the bus stop on the south side of the street. The elimination of the bus stop will also allow room for several new metered parking spaces.

No one knows when the DOT will make these changes on Nassau Street, but everyone is hoping it will take less time than the ten months it took to get them approved.

Master Plan

One of the few parcels of land in the Borough that is still undeveloped is the Palmer Square-owned lot behind the garage on Hulfish Street. This was approved by the Planning Board as a site for 97 housing units, but these units have not been built.

Mr. Goldfarb said there was no reasonable expectation that the approved plan would be built very soon. Mayor Reed noted that, "We think we have a vigorous Central Business District and would like to keep it that way. As long as that development is stalled, it is somewhat of a drag on the sailing ship we call downtown Princeton."

Several residents of Cleveland Lane were in the audience, and they were worried about the increase of traffic on their street. One resident, Dory Albert, said that a neighbor had clocked nearly 4,000 cars and trucks using Cleveland Lane over a 14-hour period.

Mr. Goldfarb said that a lot of the difficulties on Cleveland Lane are due to development in adjacent communities. He singled out the Educational Testing Service expansion at its Rosedale Road headquarters as having a negative effect on the quiet residential street.

"The western section is becoming a bypass for people all over the place," said Councilman Mark Freda. "If we have to make it impossible for other people to drive through Princeton, so be it."

"Princeton will suffer the same fate as beautiful towns in the metropolitan area," said Aristides Georgantas, also of Cleveland Lane, a former Planning Board member who is now chair of the Regional Plan Association.

He said the quality of life in neighborhoods must be stabilized, and that the increase in traffic in Princeton benefitted outside towns. "Princeton's tolerance is enormous. We accept de facto distribution that is an outrage. ETS will burden Princeton in the way that the former Pan Am building is burdening Manhattan."

Share the Burden

Harrison Street resident Larry Dupraz told Mr. Georgantas that 30,000 cars come down his street every day, and that he didn't see why Cleveland Lane couldn't share the burden.

Planning Board member Alain Kornhauser said there was a broad policy decision to be made on whether to concentrate traffic on a few streets or distribute the burden. Currently, he said, the burden is being distributed.

Mayor Reed supported the idea of hiring a traffic consultant to work on these issues for the master plan. He also said that Princeton may have to take some very hard stands. "Unless we do, our nearby neighbors will continue to come plowing through us."

Health Care Issue

Not surprisingly, the Medical Center was the focus of the health care issue. Mayor Reed reported that "the hospital has been buying residential houses, leaving them vacant, not being challenged by local zoning officers, and converting them to other uses."

This is one health care issue the Master Plan should address, he said. The second is, what should the town offer as community medical services.

"The hospital came in in 1989 and talked grandly about crisis centers in surrounding areas that would take pressure off the main facility," said Mr. Enslin. "You see the result. This has not occurred."

"This is a question both of service to the community and of neighborhood preservation," said Councilwoman Sandra Starr.

Council was scheduled to continue its discussion of the Borough's traffic problems at its meeting scheduled for Tuesday night, August 1, when Mayor Reed was expected to press for four-way stop signs at several Borough intersections, including Hamilton Avenue/Linden Lane and Spruce/Chestnut.

Other traffic items on the agenda are, speed limits in school zones, one-way streets, street closings/culs de sac, sidewalks and street trees, and "Children at Play" and other signage.

tempting to rape his victim when then-patrol officer Cromwell arrived, possibly saving the victim's life.

He was also given the Lifesaving Medal in the 1970's, after pulling an unconscious woman from her burning home on Brookstone Drive.

Captain Cromwell was made a sergeant in 1989, and assigned the duties of traffic safety officer. In 1993, at the recommendation of a panel convened to appoint a new police chief, he was promoted to Captain, bypassing the rank of Lieutenant.

Township Police Chief Anthony Gaylord, one of the few officers who have been with the Department longer than Captain Cromwell, expressed his disappointment at losing a valuable officer. "It came as something of a shock — his medical condition. It is an unfortunate situation, and we're sorry to see him go, but Dave has to do what's best for Dave. He's going to be missed, and will be hard to replace."

In addition to his service to the Police Department, Captain Cromwell served for 25 years, from 1965 to 1990, as a volunteer Emergency Medical Technician with the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, one of only five people in the organization's history to serve for so long.

He answered more than 2,000 emergency calls during those 25 years, and held almost every one of the organization's offices, including president, vice president, captain, lieutenant, and treasurer.

For the future, he imagines a life that will be much less hectic. "I plan to sit in a chair, and watch my boat go up and down," he says with a smile.

Final Round of Hearings Expected Next Month on Hospital Garage

The Medical Center at Princeton is in the process of filing the final round of applications and site plans with the Regional Planning Board in hopes of obtaining the final approvals for extending the existing parking garage.

In January, the Medical Center received preliminary site plan approval from the Township Zoning Board of Adjustment for a use variance that will allow it to build an addition to the existing garage that is at a higher floor-area ratio than what is permitted. The approval was for a garage of a specific size with specific setbacks to the first two stories and step-backs to each of the top two stories.

The approval was conditioned upon the Medical Center coming back to the Township Zoning Board with a new design for the facade and proof of compliance with a number of measures designed to mitigate the impacts of the garage on the neighbors. According to Christopher Tarr, Medical Center attorney, the Medical Center will soon be filing plans that show a brick treatment of the facades of both the new and the old garage.

Mr. Tarr said he hopes the Township Zoning Board will schedule a hearing on these plans in September and that it will grant final approval. The next step is to go to the Planning Board for a hearing on conditional-use authorization for the small portion of the garage that lies in the Borough.

TOPICS Of the Town

According to Mr. Tarr, the Borough zoning ordinance differs from that of the Township in that floor-area ratio limitations do not apply to structures for parking, which are viewed as ancillary to the main use. After reviewing the plans, Borough Zoning Officer Frank Slimak advised Mr. Tarr that the application properly belongs before the Planning Board for conditional-use authorization.

Fate of Houses

A major issue in the garage application has been the fate of the houses along the westerly side of Harris Road, adjacent to the hospital property. Except for one, these houses are all owned by the Medical Center and serve a variety of hospital purposes. However they are in a residential zone, and the Princeton Community Master Plan lays great emphasis on keeping the residential character of the hospital's immediate neighborhood.

Four of these houses were to be demolished under the Township Zoning Board's 1992 decision to approve a somewhat larger garage addition. The neighbors appealed the decision to Township Committee, which delayed acting on the appeal hoping that the issues would be resolved in meetings of an ad hoc subcommittee of the Planning Board with representatives of the Medical Center and some of the neighbors. Committee ultimately ordered a rehearing of the application predicated on the smaller garage agreed to in the meetings and also on the fact that three of the houses would remain.

During the hearings the Medical Center was criticized for not having applied for authorization to use the residences for hospital purposes. The Medical Center promised it would do so and began the process last November. More complete site-plan applications and applications for conditional use authorization have now been filed. There are 10 houses involved, two in the Borough and eight in the Township.

Separate application forms had to be filled out for each municipality. Mr. Tarr hopes the Planning Board will hear the applications together rather than separately.

The applications state that the Medical Center seeks permission to use the houses for hospital purposes — "as business offices, for auxiliary functions, teaching and other uses." They also state that all traffic and parking will be into the garage, with no traffic on Harris Road. In addition, the Medical Center says it is is willing to remove the driveways to the houses if the Planning Board wishes.

The Zoning Board held more than a dozen hearings in 1994 before voting on the revised garage application in early January. Whether the upcoming hearings at the Zoning Board and at the Planning Board to wrap up the remaining details will be as prolonged and contentious remains to be seen.

Revaluation of Princeton Properties Moving More Slowly Than Expected

About 20 percent of Township properties and 30 percent of properties in the Borough have been visited by inspectors from the firm retained by the two municipalities to do a complete revaluation of all properties in both towns.

Data from these inspections has also been entered on the computer in the tax assessor's office, although it will not be available to property owners until the fall when all taxpayers will receive notification of the new market values of their properties.

According to Carol Caskey, Township and Borough tax assessor, the firm, Michael G. Morris Associates of Flemington, has eight inspectors out measuring the exteriors of buildings and doing visual inspections of the interiors. All eight are experienced revaluation inspectors, Ms. Caskey says.

She herself meets with Mr. Morris on a weekly basis to monitor the firm's progress and iron out any problems. The revaluation is moving more slowly than the firm expected, Ms. Caskey says. She attributes this to larger houses (many of the smaller Cape Cod-style houses have been expanded and take longer to inspect) and the fact that "Princeton is a complicated community," as she puts it.

Ms. Caskey says she is hoping the notices of the new assessed valuation will be mailed out in December. Informal hearings to give taxpayers an opportunity to discuss the assessments with MGM representatives will take place during the three weeks after the notices are mailed.

The notice will be accompanied by a fact sheet describing the components of the house or building as well as a computer-generated design of the floor plan with measurements. Property owners will be able to compare the value elements of their property with the appraisal company's data.

In a revaluation update that will appear in the Township's next newsletter, Ms. Caskey reminds taxpayers that in addition to construction costs, comparable sales of similar properties will be used in valuing each property. She also notes that the tax rate is expected to go down at least by half as the new values go into effect for the 1996 tax year.

Administrators Named At Princeton Schools

The School Board last Tuesday night approved the hiring of a new director of special services and a new high school assistant principal.

Charles J. Murray of Cherry Hill, who has been with the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE) since 1977, was named director of special services. He is scheduled to begin his job in late August, and will be paid an annual salary of $85,194.

Dr. Murray replaces Charles Huchet, who retired from public education and accepted a job with the Newgrange School.

Randolph resident Janie P. Edmonds, who is currently supervisor of science education in Millburn Township, will be paid $89,430. She is replacing Marvin Trotman as assistant principal, and is also expected to begin her job in late August.

Since 1989, Dr. Murray has been in the DOE's Mercer County Office, where he has acted as county child study supervisor, participated in T&E monitoring, and served on a Special Education Program Review Development Task Force.

From 1977 to 1989 he was assistant to the division director in the DOE's Division of Special Education. He directed the Office of Planning and Management and supervised and evaluated five child-study teams that evaluated severely handicapped children.

Dr. Murray holds an Ed.D. in educational administration and special education from Temple University; an M.S. in elementary education/special education from Russell Sage College; and a B.S. in elementary education from the State University of New York at Plattsburgh.

Dr. Edmonds has been an instructor in science education at Rutgers University since 1987 and an adjunct assistant professor of physics at the County College of Morris from 1993. She also served as supervisor of science education at Summit High School and as a teacher of physics and chemistry at Kittatinny Regional High School, Newton.

She holds an Ed.D. in administration and supervision from Columbia University, an M.A.T. in science education from Montclair State College, and a B.S. in chemistry and mathematics from Bloomfield College.

tendent's new salary will be $117,875.

The 4 percent increase was awarded to those administrators who are not members of a union. It has been School Board procedure to link these raises with the salary increase contracted with members of the Princeton Regional Administrators' Association.

This policy, however, did not apply to the superintendent. In its act, the Board affirmed that the superintendent was separate from a policy that applied to other non-unionized administrators.

Speeding Not Prevalent On Rt. 206 in Borough

Borough Chief of Police Thomas Michaud reported to Mayor and Council last Tuesday night that trucks are not speeding in great volume on the Borough portion of Route 206. This was determined over the previous week, he said, when police officers, equipped with radar, were stationed at least four hours a day on Route 206.

Chief Michaud said that a few cars were speeding, and that the police found some trucks to be very noisy. "But speeding by trucks is not a significant problem."

Efforts to detect speeders are now being diffused throughout the Borough, he said, adding that he will try to place a high concentration of police officers on Cleveland Lane.

Chief Michaud also reported that, during a recent check, 16 out of 17 trucks stopped by the State Police were found to have violations. Local police are forbidden from making such checks.

Mayor Marvin Reed suggested that the Police become active in enforcing the Borough noise ordinance against very noisy trucks.

No Further Regulations On Police Terminals

Borough Council did not appear worried by warnings made by Councilman Roger Martindell that Police Mobile Data Terminals (MDTs) could be prone to abuse.

Mr. Martindell said there exists a danger of abuse because there are no State laws or local guidelines about the use of the MDT.

This terminal, which is installed in police vehicles, enables officers to gain quick access to driving records. Its use has led to a significant increase in the number of Borough violations issued for driving with a suspended or revoked license and for driving without a license.

Mr. Martindell said one form of possible abuse was targeting neighborhoods and checking the driving records of all cars in them. Councilman Mark Freda told him there was a police regulation against targeting, but Mr. Martindell said this did not cover neighborhoods.

"I know you're very protective of the Police Department," said Mr. Martindell. "I'm very fair," responded Mr. Freda.

Mr. Freda and Police Chief Thomas Michaud said there was a record of all police use of the MDT, and that this could be accessed in the event of any complaints about abuse.

"In my ten years on Borough Council, the entire way the Borough Police Department operates does not encourage or permit this kind of freelancing on the part of police officers," said Mayor Marvin Reed. "If a particular neighborhood felt this was happening, we'd hear about it."

"There is a paper trail, and it comes down to whether we trust our Police Department," said Mr. Freda to Mr. Martindell. "Your comments indicate that you don't."

The final word on this issue at the Tuesday night Council meeting came from Mayor Marvin Reed, who said, "This is not a problem in Princeton at the moment."

Emergency Room Fray Leaves Surgeon Injured

A surgeon in the Emergency Room at the Medical Center at Princeton suffered three broken ribs Sunday morning, after being assaulted by a patient.

Township police brought 31-year-old Richard Steinnagel, of 96 William Patterson Court, to the hospital for treatment of a suspected drug overdose on Sunday.

While in the hospital, Mr. Steinnagel got into an argument with the surgeon, whom police would not identify. The argument intensified, until Mr. Steinnagel punched the surgeon, cracking three of his ribs.

Borough police officers were called to the scene, and they placed Mr. Steinnagel under arrest for aggravated assault. As of Tuesday morning, Mr. Steinnagel was still being held, for want of $5,000 bail.

A 22-year-old male Borough resident was robbed on Leigh Avenue on Sunday morning at 2:27 a.m.

According to police, the victim was walking down the street when he was approached by two young men. They began talking to him, and then one of them tore a gold chain from around the victim's neck, and ran.

The suspect who took the chain is described as a black male, 18 to 20 years of age, 6 feet tall, and thin. He was wearing blue jeans and a white t-shirt. His companion was described only as a black male.

The 14K gold chain was valued at $700.

Good While They Lasted

Those sturdy signs in the center of Nassau Street warning motorists that pedestrians have the right of way are gone, at least temporarily. But the signs, which Borough officials said were very helpful in preserving the life and limb of pedestrians, will return, albeit in another form.

They have disappeared from the streetscape because, in the dark of night, an unknown motorist decided to use them for target practice. Mayor Marvin Reed called the deed "vigilante action."

Police Chief Tom Michaud said that he and Public Works Supervisor Wayne Carr were working on devising a sturdier and less expensive sign, one that would be harder to knock down and destroy. They are in the process of having barrels partially filled with sand, which they hope will do the trick by popping back up when attacked. These should be ready this week or next, said Chief Michaud at last Tuesday night's Borough Council meeting.

The Mayor appeared pleased that the signs would soon reappear. "We can't let people like that behave like that," he said.

Dangerous Hacky-Sacking

Borough police arrested an 18-year-old and a 16-year-old after a hacky-sack with which they were playing struck a third party in the head on Palmer Square. There was no serious injury.

According to police, John Jordan, of 361 Franklin Avenue, and his younger companion, whose name was not released due to his age, had been warned previously not to play the game on Palmer Square.

Jordan was issued a summons for disorderly conduct, and, after he was found to be in possession of a 3" gravity knife, he was also charged with unlawful possession of a weapon.

The juvenile was released to his parents, pending action by the juvenile officer.

A Township woman parked her 1989 Chevrolet in a Maple Street driveway between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. on July 26. She returned to her car to find that someone had opened an unlocked door and taken her pocketbook. The pocketbook contained $150 in cash, as well as a checkbook, credit cards, identification, and personal items.

Thieves and Vandals Top Township Crime Report

In Princeton Township this week, police reported a number of acts of theft and vandalism.

An office building on Herrontown Road was entered and burgled between 7 p.m. on July 21 and 9 a.m. on July 24.

Police do not know how access to the building was gained. Taken was an HP Laserjet computer printer and a Silicone Graphics brand computer monitor. The value of the stolen goods is estimated at $3,000.

Following a slew of attempted and successful car thefts in Washington Oaks last week, police reported a single incident this week.

Someone attempted to break into a 1986 Plymouth between 8 p.m. on July 25 and 11:30 the next morning.

Police speculate that while trying to pry open the door of the car, the thief shattered a window, and was scared off.

Frying Plantains Set Fire

A Redding Circle resident was frying plantains early in the morning Sunday, and fell asleep while they were still on the stove.

The stove eventually caught fire, awakening the resident. Firefighters extinguished the blaze, with only smoke and soot damage being done to the rest of the apartment.

A burglar took an unknown amount of jewelry from a Pardoe Road home sometime between 10 p.m. on July 21 and 11 a.m. on July 25.

Police believe that the burglar entered through an unlocked garage door, and took the jewelry from a chest in a bedroom. As of Monday, the nature and value of the stolen items had not been revealed.

Witherspoon Street Man Arrested After Assault

Borough police received a 911 call on Sunday at 4 a.m., informing them that there was a man beating a woman in the middle of Witherspoon Street.

Officers responded to the scene and placed 27-year-old Carlos Vasquez, of 120 Witherspoon Street, under arrest.

He was charged with simple assault and held in lieu of $10,000 bail. According to police, he was taken to the County Corrections Center early this week.

A 1981 Chevrolet, which was left parked in a lot at 27 Harrison Street between 8 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. on Thurs-

There was no report of anything stolen from the car, and a damage estimate was not available.

Graffitisti Identified

One juvenile was arrested, and another is under suspicion in a case of vandalism last week. On July 25, a police officer on patrol noticed a group of youths leaving an area on Chambers Street, which, they later discovered, had been defaced with graffiti.

They observed a young man in the area at 11 p.m. that evening, and placed him under arrest. The 16-year-old Borough resident was released to his parents, pending action by the juvenile officer.

Police have identified a 15-year-old Township boy as a second suspect, but have not yet taken action against him.

In a matter that police consider related to the case above, green paint was used to deface a building on South Tulane Street between 5:30 p.m. and 9 a.m. on July 26.

Police reported that a delivery truck parked in the same area was also marked with green paint.

An 11-year-old Borough boy, and a 12-year-old North Brunswick boy were charged with juvenile delinquency last week, after making a false 911-emergency call.

Police said that the boys made the call at 10:14 a.m. on July 25. The caller made an obscene comment to the dispatcher who answered the call, and then hung up.

Police were dispatched to the pay phone from which the call came, and found the two youths in the area.

They were released to their parents, pending action by the juvenile officer.

A Bosch jigsaw, valued at $140 was stolen from a construction area in the basement of Princeton University's Holder Hall.

The theft took place between 12 noon and 1 p.m. on July 20.

A JVC brand portable stereo was stolen from a room in Princeton University's Frick Labs between 10 p.m. on July 10 and 9:30 p.m. on July 16.

The stereo was valued at $200.

Activities to Observe 50th Anniversary Of Atomic Bombing of Hiroshima Planned

The Coalition for Peace Action is planning a series of activities on Saturday and Sunday to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima, and to launch an "Abolition Treaty 2000" campaign to press for negotiation of a nuclear abolition treaty by 2000.

At 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, a children's video entitled "Sadako and the Thousand Paper Cranes" will be shown at the Princeton Public Library. Folding of paper cranes, a universal symbol of peace, will be included.

Sunday will begin with an Interfaith Service of Commemoration from 8 to 8:45 at Nassau Presbyterian Church. The service will include a moment of silence at 8:15, the time of the dropping of the Bomb, and will be co-led by Rabbi Shana Margolin, Imam Abdul-Malik Ali, and the Rev. Bob Moore.

A bring-your-own Community Picnic will be held from 5 to 6:15 at Community Park. Parking is available in the lot parallel to Birch Avenue at the end of John Street. At 6:15, a brief kick-off ceremony, at which Princeton Borough Mayor Marvin Reed and Princeton Township Mayor Michele Tuck will speak, will begin the March for the Abolition of Nuclear Weapons to Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School plaza.

The day will conclude with a rally and program at the plaza from 7 to 8:45 p.m. The keynote speaker will be Jonathan Schell, author of The Fate of the Earth. Also speaking will be Yoshiyuki Midou, a survivor of the bombing; Tara Tostanoski, a teen who went to Hiroshima last summer; and Ambassador Utula-Utuoc Samana, U.N. representative of Papau, New Guinea, a diplomat strongly opposed to nuclear weapons testing.

Music will be provided by The Dragons of Eden; Jeffry Folmer; and The Voices Chorale, with Lynne Ransom as conductor. The evening will conclude with floating candles on the plaza fountain, the traditional Japanese custom for commemorating the lost souls of Hiroshima.

All events are free and open to the public. For further information, call the Coalition for Peace Action at 924-5022.

PHS Grad Sentenced In Husband's Murder

In an Ohio courtroom on Monday, Michelle Lynn McDermott Barrett, a 1986 Princeton High School graduate, was sentenced to 8 to 25 years in prison, after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of involuntary manslaughter in the poisoning death of her husband.

Kirk Barrett, the former Princeton resident's husband of 10 months, died on September 25, seconds after drinking a glass of orange juice that his wife had laced with cyanide.

According to police, the Barretts met while studying at Bucknell University, in Lewisburg, Pa., and were married in late 1993.

Police claim that Barrett laced her husband's juice with cyanide, and then went to take a shower, knowing that she would return to find him dead.

She dialed 911 upon discovering the body, and showed police what later was proved to be a forged suicide note.

During the court proceeding, no motive was presented for the murder.

Princeton Public Library Now Offering Computer Index of Local Newspapers

One thing about computers in a library: they bear no obvious witness to the work of librarians and the volunteers who help them organize and operate their institution.

Card catalogs are different. Standing row upon row, they are a monument to thousands of hours of labor, each of the hundreds of thousands of cards typed, annotated, and alphabetized by hand. A computer the size of a few file drawers might be empty, or might be teeming with information, but it will look just the same.

So, the little Gateway 2000 computer, which sits on a small table around the corner from the Princeton Public Library's Reference desk, is dwarfed, both in stature and symbolism, by the multi-drawered card catalog that it rests beside.

In the age of electronic information retrieval, though, size isn't much of an indicator of work or value. The new computer, which has been available to the public for only a few months, contains two databases: the Local Newspaper Index, and the Community Resource File.

Both are in the early stages of their development, but even in their formative stages, they offer a valuable tool for people seeking information of a local nature.

Newspaper Index

Research Librarian Gayle Stratton has been in charge of developing the computerized Local Newspaper Index.

The index, originally a card eatalog, allows its user to find out when a particular topic was addressed in print, what publication the article appeared in, when the article appeared, and what page it appeared on.

The electronic version is a great improvement on the library's 20-year-old practice of indexing news pertaining to Princeton.

Issues of TOWN TOPICS and the Princeton Packet have been combed-through and indexed by volunteers since 1975, when Therese Critchlow initiated the project. The first eight years of the index, from 1975 to 1983, are now preserved on microfilm. Issues from 1983 to 1993 are in the large card catalog mentioned above. Issues from 1994 to early 1995, are all computerized.

According to Ms. Stratton, the computerized indexing system allows users much more flexibility. "The card file is just a 'subject' file," she says, meaning that the only way for a user to search out a particular article was to know exactly what subject it had been filed under. "The old card file had the information, but you had to know the subject first," says Ms. Stratton.

"On the new system," she reports, "subject access is one of many ways to search."

Users can now use "keywords" to search through the database. For example, someone looking for information on the debate over parking space in the Borough might use the keyword "parking" to pull together articles listed under numerous subject headings.

Searches can also be limited by a particular issue of a paper, or by a particular date.

The daunting chore of indexing the papers is handled by Ms. Stratton and a crew of volunteers. "I have a core of five people, and I recently trained another person," says Ms. Stratton.

Volunteer indexers do not just jump into the job. "We have rules," says Ms. Stratton, "We have a notebook that lays out how to go about it: what articles we want to include, what points we want to include from a given article."

Indexers are also put through a training period, in which Ms. Stratton works with them, checking their work when it is finished.

The work is neither easy nor fast. An average issue of TOWN TOPICS takes between four and five hours to index, says Ms. Stratton, not including the time spent by volunteer data entry workers, who actually type the information into the computer.

Indexers are currently working to bring the index up to the present day. They are about six months behind, Ms. Stratton estimates.

After they catch up, a new task awaits them: they will start in 1993, and begin to work their way backwards.

Community Resource File

A second database on the same computer is the Community Resource File, organized by reference librarian Jane Brown.

"We're hoping to get all of the clubs, organizations, and agencies of interest to Princeton residents in one place, searchable by keyword," says Ms. Brown. "So far, we have over 300 records. When we're finished, we should have well over 1,000."

———

The Community Resource File allows organizations from the American Cancer Society, to small local clubs to present information about themselves in a searchable database.

"These are not just things in Princeton: our focus has been the Princeton user," says Ms. Brown. If certain services or information are not available in Princeton, the database includes the nearest organization that provides them.

Ms. Brown's goal is to keep the database current, with no information more than one year old.

The entries allow each organization to present a description of itself and the services it offers, as well as contact information.

"We have most of the major Princeton groups, and most of the Mercer County Government services," she says. She is now gathering information on local clubs.

Like the Newspaper Index, the Community Resource File is searchable by keyword. For example, someone searching for transportation assistance for a blind relative might search for entries with the keywords "blind" and "transportation."

Such a search done last week produced 32 entries, and although not all of them were on-target, it provided a solid starting point for further inquiry.

The Local Newspaper Index and the Community Resource File are both available for use at the Public Library, with instructions and helpful librarians available to assist those wary of computers.

The Girl Scout Council Forms Alumnae Group

The Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council has announced the launching of the first Girl Scout Alumnae Association in Mercer and Middlesex counties.

"There are so many lifelong Girl Scouts who are looking for opportunities to stay connected with our organization, and the Alumnae Association is one way to welcome these friends back," said Dianne Donnelly, executive director of the council.

The association has planned several events for the upcoming year, beginning with a camp picnic that includes a tour, flag ceremony, lunch, and songs and activities with Girl Scouts.

The purpose of the association is to provide members with an opportunity to meet new people and explore areas of mutual interest. Participants will be invited to attend various council events, possibly share a tent at camp, and serve as a mentor for council programs.

Former Girl Scouts or Girl Guides are invited to join the alumnae association. For more information, call (908) 821-9090.

Extra Acting Workshop At Creative Theatre

Creative Theatre has added an extra session of its acting workshop for 8 to 11 year olds. The full-day session will be held the week of August 28 to September 1 from 9:30 to 3:30 each day.

Participants will devise their own original play and present it to their families on Friday, September 1. They will be involved in creating, improvising and scripting their work as well as making props, sets and costumes.

Creative Theatre also has a few spaces remaining in the drama workshops for 4- to 6-year-olds. In these workshops, students explore a different theme each day through visual arts, storytelling, movement, music and creative drama activities. Sessions are held the week of July 31 to August 4 from 9:30 to noon or 1:30 to 4 and also the week of August 7 to 11 from 1:30 to 4.

Free Water-Saving Kit

Could this be the proverbial "free lunch" everyone has been waiting for? Maybe not, but at least it's a free water-saving kit, which could save enough money to buy a lunch.

The kit is being offered to Borough residents as a way to help them conserve water and reduce their water and sewer charges. Each kit costs the Borough $7.50, and includes a shower head, kitchen tapsaver, bathroom tapsaver, toilet tank water saver, leak-detecting dye tablets, and a pamphlet containing 25 water-saving tips.

The Borough this year shifted some of its costs for road and street reconstruction from the property tax rate to the sewer service fee. Since this fee is based on water usage, Borough officials say the kit will enable home owners to exercise some control over the amount they have to pay to the municipality for services.

To obtain a free kit, Borough residents must fill out the form included in their property tax bill and bring it to the Office of the Borough Clerk at Borough Hall.

Shoe Store for Children Comes to Lawrenceville

Paul Carella, formerly of Carella's Shoes II For Kids, has opened a new children's shoe store, Paul's Step By Step, on Route 1 in the Lawrence Shopping Center.

Just in time for back-to-school, Paul's Step By Step will celebrate its grand opening on Saturday, August 12, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Radio station WPST will do a live broadcast from the site, and there will be numerous attractions for children, including Lin-Cee the Clown and Batman.

In addition to refreshments and other give-aways, visitors will enjoy the chance to win gift certificates from other stores in the Lawrence Shopping Center. A summer clearance sale will also be in progress.

Paul's Step By Step will carry Stride-Rite, Keds, Reebok, LA Gear, Nine West, and European styles such as Elefanten, Piedini, and Shoe Be Doo.

Bicycle Patrol at Work In MarketFair Lots

Princeton MarketFair has a Bicycle Patrol patrolling its parking lots.

"With the mall's parking area exceeding one mile," says Security Director Andre Leon, "the addition of a bicycle patrol to our security force enables the officer on duty to cover mall territory in a shorter time span and thereby expedite the resolution of any situation that may occur."

An enhanced Schwinn mountain bike, rider safety equipment that includes helmets and riding shoes, a stylized uniform as well as a Motorola wearable radio system has been provided to ensure that the bicycle patrolman is outfitted to perform his duties comfortably. The Bicycle Security Patrol is active on weekdays and weekends during spring, summer and fall, as well as during the winter months when the weather permits.

Outer Space Visitors At N.J. State Museum

Every day the Earth is bombarded by cosmic dust and meteors — visitors from outer space. The New Jersey State Museum is pleased to exhibit 35 of these identifiable flying objects in a new show called "Impact! Collisions in the Solar System," through February 4. Museum guests will see an assemblage of meteorites, tektites, and photographic images of impact structures never before assembled in a New Jersey museum.

The museum has compiled an array of 49 objects and 28 visuals that demonstrates the effect asteroid impacts, meteorites and shock waves can have on local landscapes and life itself.

Highlights of the exhibition are, a 220-pound iron meteorite from Africa; New Jersey's only recovered meteorite, collected in 1829; pictures and objects associated with Arizona's Barringer Meteorite Crater, the first site on Earth positively identified as meteoritic in origin; objects from the 1992 Peekskill, N.Y. meteorite fall, including a piece of the car that was struck;

Also, samples of the Allende meteorite that contains material from the very beginnings of our solar system more than 4.6 billion years ago; slices through different types of meteorites showing their internal structures, including silvery Widmanstatten patterns (geometric intergrowths of two minerals); a specimen from the Sikhote Aline fall whose impact shattered windows for 108 miles and was heard 72 miles away; and a gemstone faceted from moldavite, a green glass originating from meteor impact.

Additionally, visitors can view a five-minute videotape about collisions in the solar system. Photo blow-ups display the effects of asteroid and meteroid collisions with the Moon, Mercury, and natural satellites of Saturn and Jupiter.

No exhibition about this timely phenomenon would be complete without pictures from the great comet crash of 1994. Richard Peery, assistant curtor of astronomy education at the State Museum, notes, "The July 1994 collision of Comet Shoemaker Levy 9 with Jupiter's surface demonstrated that comet and asteroid impacts are an ongoing story in the solar system and one we cannot afford to ignore. If Shoemaker Levy 9 had struck Earth, a major disaster might have occurred."

Objects from the New Jersey State Museum's collections are supplemented with loans from the American Museum of Natural History, The Newark Museum, the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, J. Paul Barringer, R.A. Langheinrich of Lang's Fossils and Meteorites, Cranford, Barbara and David Grandstaff, and Al Jehle.

The exhibition is on view at the lower level near the Planetarium entrance of the New Jersey State Museum, 205 West State Street, Trenton. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday, 9 to 4:45, and Sunday, noon to 5. It is closed Mondays and state holidays. General Museum admission is free.

For more information, call 292-6308.

Scudders Mill Road Closing for Rt. 1 Work

The New Jersey Department of Transportation will begin work in the area of Scudders Mill Road on Monday evening. The construction will last approximately four weeks and will have a significant impact on travel along Scudders Mill Road to Route 1, according to an advisory from Keep Middlesex Moving, Middlesex County's Transportation Management Association.

A communications meeting will be held Friday from 10 a.m. to noon in the Plainsboro Municipal Building, 641 Plainsboro Road, Plainsboro. Representatives from NJDOT will outline the project, describe the changing traffic patterns and answer questions.

The meeting has been arranged by Keep Middlesex Moving in response to a request from the NJDOT after Plainsboro officials expressed concern about the four-week closing.

DAVID NEWTON is the new vice president at Palmer Square. He is in charge of leasing and management for Palmer Square West and East and Hulfish North.

Palmer Square Manager

pictures he had taken in Statford-on-Avon of a black-and-white building in a similar architectural style. The Commission gave its okay.

Commonwealth sold its holdings in 1987. "This was right before the crash," said Mr. Newton. "It's probably a tribute to the shrewdness and intuitiveness of my father."

To most Princetonians, Arthur Collins and Palmer Square go together like ham and eggs. Mr. Collins, with his partner Arthur Emil, bought the Square from Princeton University in 1980 and successfully steered its development through a stormy approval process.

Mr. Collins and Mr. Emil are no longer a part of Palmer Square Management, which is now owned by an investment group from New York City led by Oded Aboodi. The main player in pulling this group together was the late Steven Ross, who headed Time Warner.

Palmer Square Management owns Palmer Square West, Palmer Square East, Hulfish North, and the Nassau Inn. Mr. Newton is in charge of leasing and management for everything but the inn.

Wants to Improve Kiosk Area

Mr. Newton said one of his first tasks will be to improve the kiosk and the area surrounding it, including the fountain. "Even steamcleaning won't get out chewing gum."

He said he'd also like to place "somewhere on the square" a smoke shop that also sells other products, such as publications and newspapers." Since this sounds exactly like the kiosk, was he planning to close the kiosk?

"No comment," he replied

One of the biggest questions surrounding Palmer Square is the future of the area behind the Hulfish Street garage. About ten years ago, plans for developing 97 housing units on this site were approved. Seventeen units were built on Hulfish North, but when they didn't sell, the 97 additional units were put on hold.

"From my own personal perspective, as a Princeton resident, I'd like to explore the possibility of more office and retail space because that would have a more long-term benefit for the community," said Mr. Newton. Such a shift would require another round of Planning Board approvals.

A decision on the future of this site will be made within the next six to 18 months, he said.

Downtown Fared Well

"Compared with many towns its size, Princeton has been very lucky with respect to its downtown," said Mr. Newton. "Small towns all across America have been devastated by strip malls, regional shopping centers, and the like."

He credits Princeton's good fortune to four ingredients: the presence of Princeton University; the proximity of affluent residential areas; the 55-45 factor (Princeton is 55 miles from New York and 45 from Philadelphia); and its historical ambience.

Nationally, he sees a grass-roots interest by retailers in relocating to downtowns. "This has come full circle, going from downtown, to shopping centers, to regional malls, to the power center, and now back to the downtown.

"Because Princeton never went down like other towns, it's now helping to lead the way for this resurgence and reemergence of downtown America."

Mr. Newton sees Princeton's clientele made up of students, residents, and visitors. "Palmer Square, as well as the downtown, has to provide for the needs of these three elements."

He is unworried about the growing retail development on Route 1. "The thing about downtown Princeton is that there's no more of it. On Route 1, the developer is only confident until the next farmer gets his zoning."

"The survival of stores in Princeton has a lot to do with the residents of Princeton," said Mr. Newton. "To the extent we can provide good service, we have a much better chance of surviving."

SURGERY

"When I completed my training at Cornell and Bellevue and came to Princeton 20 years ago, I was attracted by the high quality of the medical staff.

Today, as chairman of the Department of Surgery, it is gratifying to see that our hospital continues to attract physicians of the highest calibre. Dr. Henry Davison came to Princeton from training at Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital and Dr. Ken Goldman joined us after his training at New York University.

It is important for patients to be confident in the quality of the physicians in their communities."

Arts Patron Database Created with Grant

McCarter Theare is one of several arts organizations to benefit from an Arts Challenge Fund grant of $160,000.

The grant was given to support a Market Analysis Praject which will provide a consortium of arts organizations with an internal capability to develop more efficient arts marketing and development strategies on an ongoing basis.

This consortium, called Arts Net NJ, is led by McCarter Theatre and includes the NJ Symphany Orchestra, Paper Mill Playhouse, New Brunswick Cultural Center/State Theatre, and George Street Playhouse.

The formation of this unique collaboration has, for the first time in New Jersey, assembled a centralized database that contains information about patrons covering a vast cross-section of the arts market. Arts Net NJ services the entire state and the database currently stores information on approximately one million arts patrons.

Teens Arrested for Playing Hacky-Sack Treated Differently According to Race

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This evening I witnessed the most appalling thing. Two young men, Princeton natives and PHS students, while playing hacky-sack were ticketed and then arrested, first for playing the game on the open plaza of One Palmer Square and then for having something in their possession that may have been illicit.

What was so galling was the force used to bring the kids in was all out of proportion to the illegality of their activity and the kids were even treated differently according to their race. The young man of Color was handcuffed behind his back and marched roughly to the squad car while the Caucasian young man was coaxed to follow the Police Officer, unwatched even, and allowed to climb into the front seat of a separate squad car.

Whatever offense was committed was clearly victimless as we were all enjoying the game they were playing as spectators. If they in fact were in possession of tobacco or alcohol or other such stimulants, clearly this is a question of wholesomeness or lack thereof and not of destruction of property, assault or other such "victim" crimes.

How is it that the community of Princeton can prosecute young adults and juveniles for violations of standards of wholesomeness when it offers nothing as an alternative to using the streets and downtown areas for recreation? How is it that our community can have such contempt for the intelligence of the young that it demands first academic involvement far beyond what is normal or healthy for a young person and then penalizes, punishes and stigmatizes those who seek relief from their mental exertions through the use of mild stimulants, especially where no other wholesome alternatives are even available to young people without extraordinary resources.

Such cavalier and ill-thought out treatment of the young must ultimately create embittered adults with anti-social feelings.

Elected Officials Deserve Our Sympathy For Supporting Taxpayers Over Library

To the Editor of Town Topics:

At last week's joint Borough council/Township Committee meeting — and in response to requests by Library Director Jacqueline Thresher for expansion of the Library's 1996 budget by a few thousand dollars, Township Mayor Tuck respectfully observed, "We are trying to respond to the needs of the library and the needs of the taxpayers."

Whereupon the Council and Committee members were scolded by Library Board of Trustees President Harry Levine for not cranking up again last year's outrageous and mercifully stalled $20 million library tax expansion project!

On occasions like that, I think that our elected officials especially merit our sympathy and appreciation for the difficult roles they are obliged to play.

PRINCETON ACUPUNCTURE
Are you in chronic pain? Acupuncture is a highly effective way to treat pain that resists other forms of treatment. Very fine needles, inserted into specific points at the skin's surface, release the systemic blockages that cause pain. Relief is often available in 5-15, one-hour sessions.
Traditional Chinese medicine has a 3,000-year track record of successfully treating: migraine and cluster headaches, lower lumbar pain, neck pain, arthritis, sciatica, and fibromyalgia.

Letters to the Editor

Town Topics welcomes letters to the editor on subjects specifically related to the Princeton area. They should be typed, doubled spaced, signed and received for publication no latter than Monday noon for publication in that week's edition. No letter will be printed without a valid signature, street address and/or organizational affiliation. Letters longer than 500 words may be edited or omitted entirely.

Bastille Day Ball Contributors Thanked

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As co-chairs of this year's Bastille Day Ball, we want to extend our thanks to the many contributors and participants who helped make the July 15th event, held at Drumthwacket, such a record-breaking success. Never before has so much money been raised, have so many people attended and in such breathtaking weather!

This annual Dinner Dance is the major fund raiser for Trinity Counseling Service of Princeton. TCS, a nonprofit pastoral counseling service, never turns anyone away because of individual financial status. This makes our fund raising efforts critical!

The Bastille Day Ball enjoys a long tradition and benefits from a broad base of support in the community. We are grateful to all those people who willingly donated time, energy, and money. Our Committee and the TCS Board are made up of an extraordinary group of volunteers.

We are proud to include many corporations among our supporters: CoreStates New Jersey National Bank, this year's Benefactor, Bloomberg Financial Markets, The John R. & Dorothy D. Caples Fund, Coopers & Lybrand, Robert Garrett Associates, The Glenmede Trust Co., Infiniti, Merrill Lynch, Price Waterhouse, Princeton Capital Management, Smith, Stratton, Wise, Heher & Brennan, and United Jersey Bank.

In addition tables were purchased by John T. Henderson, Inc., Princeton Bank & Trust Co. and U.S. Trust. Contributions were also made by Bristol-Meyers Squibb Co., Groendyke Associates, The Hillier Group, Judy King Interiors, McCarthy and Schatzman, Prudential Securities, Response Analysis, Sturhahn Dickenson & Bernard, Syska & Hennessy, Tucker Anthony, and the Woodland Foundation.

Lucky attendees at the Ball won door prizes from the following generous area merchants: Jimmy Duffy & Sons, Prince Sports Group, the Worth Collection, Hamilton Jewelers, Acacia and Lahiere's restaurants, the Carlisle Collection, Deborah Leamann Interiors, and Ellsworth's Wines & Liquors.

Finally, we want to thank the 330 people who joined us at the Bastille Day Ball and the more than 75 individuals who, unable to attend, sent donations. The greater Princeton area can be proud of its strong support for this important community organization.

We appreciate everyone's involvement and dedication and hope to see you next year!

Continuing Under-Achievement of Minorities At Top of List of Regional School Problems

To The Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing to commend Charlotte Danielson for her thoughtful, knowledgeable, and constructive letter to the editor concerning her opinion of the present status of the Princeton Regional School system. I understand and share her sense of frustration in the lack of overall progress in addressing a number of problems. I believe that the continuing under achievement of a large number of minority students ranks near or at the top of the list.

I have been involved for the past 25 years with this particular issue through my membership on the Joint Commission on Civil Rights, my participation with groups at the Y.W.C.A., and my involvement with numerous citizen efforts formed to deal with the problem. I realize such efforts often produce positive results, but the effect is temporary at best.

The development of a comprehensive vision for the future with specific goals and timetables for implementation in all educational areas is needed. The Princeton Regional Schools should seek advice from concerned members of the community in order to bring about constructive changes within the system. All citizens of our towns will benefit from the elimination of the problems.

Here's an oddity ... Although baseball's Hall of Fame is in Cooperstown, N.Y., because that was the hometown of baseball's supposed inventor, Abner Doubleday — oddly enough, Doubleday himself is NOT in the Hall of Fame ... Most voters over the years have doubted that Doubleday really invented baseball, so they've kept him out of the Hall of Fame EVEN THOUGH IT WAS BUILT THERE IN THE FIRST PLACE BECAUSE OF HIM!

Tiger Roundball Returns An Older and Wiser Five

Things will be a little different for the Princeton Tiger basketball team next season.

For one, the University of Pennsylvania's dynastic deathgrip on the Ivy League has been fatally weakened, giving the Tigers a legitimate shot at the title for the first time since 1991-92.

For another, Princeton will actually have some home games this season.

Finally, the Tigers will no longer need to put three rookies in the starting lineup. Last year's rookies are back, but they are back with a year of Division I playing experience behind them, and a pair of valuable veterans to lead them.

The Tigers stand a good chance to compete in the Ivy League this season, as a monolithic Penn squad suddenly seems much less intimidating than it did last year.

In 1995, Princeton finished in a tie for second place in the Ivy League with Dartmouth, both teams playing to 10-4 records. For the third straight year, they and the rest of the Ivy stood helpless before the might of the Penn Quakers.

Fran Dunphy's crew has gone undefeated in three consecutive Ivy seasons, but mercifully, the entire starting five, including Jerome Allen and Matt Maloney, graduated in June.

The Quakers will still be dangerous, with speedy Ira Bowman, and hulking Tim Krug, but they simply don't have the guns to go undefeated again.

Last year, Princeton suffered through a simply miserable schedule. It played home games on November 26 and December 5, and then didn't play inside Jadwin for seven full weeks.

Worse still, it faced its first five Ivy League games on the road; not the ideal start for a season.

The 1995-96 schedule is much more pleasant for both the Tigers and their fans.

Early season home games include a November 29 battle with Coach Pete Carill's alma mater, Lafayette; a December 12 meeting with Monmouth; and a December 18 meeting with St. Joseph's.

In a flip-flop from last season, Princeton starts Ivy play with five consecutive home games, the first of which is against Penn, on January 6.

The Penn game will be the first Ivy contest for the Quakers as well, meaning that the Tigers will have first crack at breaking Penn's 43-game (three full seasons, plus one game in 1991-92) Ivy winning streak.

Missing from this year's schedule are the big names: there are no teams comparable to the Syracuse and UMass squads that the Tigers faced last year.

In three early season tournaments, the Tigers have a smattering of potential opponents with solid basketball programs.

Fresno State dominates the field in the Coors Light Classic in Fresno, on December 1 and 2. The other teams participating are Boise State and U. Maine (Orono.)

The Iowa State Tournament, December 21-22, will feature the hosts, plus

Sydney Johnson

Nicholls State, and Samford University.

The best of the tournaments is the last. The Green Bay Great Northern Classic, in Green Bay, Wisc., will feature the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, Ohio University, and Coppin State.

LaSalle on January 3 and Haverford on January 29 are the only other non-league games on the Tiger schedule.

The Returnees

The Tiger roster had only two seniors last year, and only one of those, Rick Hielscher, saw significant playing time. All five starters from last year will be returning, although whether or not they remain starters in the new lineup remains to he seen.

In his third year on the varsity, and his second as captain, junior guard Sydney Johnson brings experience and defensive savvy to the Tiger lineup.

Johnson, a natural shooting guard, was forced into the role of point guard for part of last season. He averaged 10 points per game, second on the team to Hielscher, and had 67 assists, second to Chris Doyal.

In spite of that, his main contribution may he his defense. Last season, Johnson took on the league's toughest guards, and covered them like a blanket. Yale's Gabe Hunterton and Dartmouth's Sea Lonergan, two of the league's premier guards now that Allen and Maloney are gone, won't be looking forward to seeing Sydney again.

For the past two years, Carill has stayed on the broad back of Doyal, deriding him for lack of a curious combination of mental and physical traits that Carill recognizes as "toughness."

Pete Carill

Carill has compared Doyal unfavorably in public, and presumably in private, to Doyal's father, a "tough" player whom Carill saw play for the University of Texas years ago.

Tough or not, Doyal led the team in rebounds and assists last year. He averaged 9.5 points per game, and was second only to Johnson in steals, with 34. He started every game last year and the year before, and averaged more than 36 minutes per game in '94-'95.

Two pleasant surprises for the Tigers last year were freshmen Mitch Henderson and James Mastaglio. Henderson, a superb athlete, started 20 games for the Tigers, in spite of a mid-season ankle injury.

Henderson quickly assumed point guard duties, freeing Johnson to take the shooting guard position, for which he is more suited. Henderson was the team's third leading scorer, with 9.7 points per game.

Mastaglio, a surprise starter last season, was behind only Doyal and Johnson in minutes played. He was among the team's best shooters, with a .487 field goal percentage. Skinny at 6'4, 180, he didn't have the bulk to be a big rebounder, but was able to pull down 2.8 per game.

Sophomore Steve Goodrich fell into a starting position as center last year, when an injury sidelined Hielscher in the early season. At 6'7, 210, he is a force in the middle and can be expected to challenge for the starting center spot again.

Complementing him will be Jesse Rosenfeld, who sat out last season for academic reasons. Rosenfeld, at 6'9, 205, owned a starting spot for part of his freshman year before he was stricken with mononucleosis.

Two freshmen bring interesting possibilities to the Tiger lineup. Carill's marquee acquisition is guard Brian Earl, a 6'2, 160-pound product of N.J. state champion Shawnee High School.

How good he will be in a Division I situation remains to be seen, but his insertion into the lineup could send shock waves through the whole Tiger squad: imagine Earl at point, Henderson at shooting guard, and Johnson pushed to small forward.

Also arriving for his first season in a Tiger uniform will be 6'11 Kevin Gilette. If the 240-pound center can play, he might push Goodrich out to the forward position, contributing even more to the potential logjam at that position.

Battle for NFL Jobs Begins Anew For Keith Elias and Jay Fiedler

Last year they were rookies in the National Football Leagua, and both survived pre-season personnel cuts to make tha final rosters of their respective teams. Now Princeton's Keith Elias and Dartmouth's Jay Fiedler must do it again.

Elias, who saw soma action early last season before an ankle injury forced him to the sidelines, will bope his spirit and work ethic will again impress New York Giants coaches enough to make the team. Already, he has done so, running for 39 yards on 10 carries in an intra-squad scrimmage last Saturday. Tha absence from training camp of first-round draft selection Tyrona Wheatley, still not satisfied with contract terms, has helped Elias.

The Giants first exhibition game will be at 4 p.m. this Sunday against the Cleveland Browns in Cleveland. NBC will telcvise the contest.

Fiedler was impressive enough in last year's pre-season for tha Philadelphia Eagles to make him their third-string quarterback. That enabled him to stand on the sidelines and hold a clipboard for 16 consecutive games. Even though first-string QB Randall Cunningham was injured, and the Eagles struggled through a dreary season, Fiedler never took a single snap from center.

This year he'll havo to please new coach Ray Rhodes instead of Dick Kotite, and win the job all over again. Cunningham, who also has plenty to prove, will be baeked up by Rodney Peete. Fiedler will have to battle fourth-round draft pick Dave Barr, who played for the University of California last fall, to be the third-string quarterback.

Tho Eagles will open their axhibition season at 7:30 Saturday night at Veterans Stadium against the Atlanta Falcons.

Pre-season confusion aside, things look good for the 1995-96 Tigers. Plenty of experience, combined with a solid crop of young talent, leaves Carill's players in position to contend in an Ivy League that hasn't been truly competitive in years.

Play-Offs Narrow Field In Rec. Hoops League

As the Princeton Recreation Department's Adult Basketball League wound down last week, four teams won their way into the semi-finals. The top three teams, Tiger's Tale, DATAN, and Top This Gourmet Pizza, all reached the semis, as did the No. 5 seed, SMB.

The four remaining teams slugged it out on Tuesday night, too late for this issue. Tiger's Tale took on SMB at 7 p.m., and Top This squared off against DATAN at 8 p.m.

The best-of-three final begins on Wednesday night at 7 p.m. The second game will be on Friday at 7 p.m., and, should a third game be necessary, it will be played on Monday, also at 7 p.m. All games are at Community Park, except in the event of rain, when they are moved to Princeton High School.

In a preliminary round on Friday, Princeton Youth Sports came close to earning its first win of the year, but fell 48-46 to Dr. VonDer Schmidt.

Curtis Goines, of Dr.V., led all scorers, with 14 points. Teammates Raymond Ferguson and Bennie Gathers contributed 12 and 10, respectively.

For PYS, Stefan Moorhead and Shahid Abdul-Karim each netted a dozen points.

In a game pitting the No. 2 team against the No. 7 team, DATAN lived up to its seeding by besting Cassavell Homes 68-60.

Once again, DATAN prevailed by relying on its balanced scoring attack. Tracy Wade, Kirk Webber, and Brian Williams all had 15 points, while Anthony Weathers scored 14.

For Cassavell, Mark Peterson scored a game-high 26, and Sean Murphy scored 16.

In the nightcap, Mike D'Allegro's No. 3 seed Top This squad bested No. 6 Sam P. Electric by a 58-37 score. D'Allegro, as is his custom, led all scorers with 17 points.

Former Princeton University center Rich Simkus had 14 points, and Rick Lloyd scored 10.

On the losing side, Brandon McEwen scored 11 and Donnell Lumpkin netted 10.

Monday's Semi-Finals

Seeds No. 4 and 5 met in Monday night's opener, and lower-seed SMB came away with a 53-45 win over Bunzl Distribution.

Alberto Baptiste and Clarence White, with 19 and 12 points, respectively, led the winners.

Geoff Card had 14 points, and Larry Jones had 12 for Bunzl.

In the nightcap, No. 1 Tiger's Tale brutalized Dr.V., 54-25. Fred Young's 16 paced the winners, while Raymond Ferguson sank 10 for Dr.V.

OBITUARIES

Achille "Giggie" Carnevale, 81, died July 16. Born in Princeton Borough, he lived there all his life.

Mr. Carnevale was a professional golf instructor who began his long career as a caddie at Springdale Golf Club. He served as caddie master from 1935 to 1940 and became a pro golf instructor there in 1941. During World War II, he served in the U.S. Army in Europe as a light artillery gun crewman with the XIX Corps Artillery that broke the Siegfried Line. He fought in the Battle of the Ardennes as well as in the Rhineland and Central Europe.

He also saw anti-submarine action. His other duties included producing training films, being an assistant to the Office of the Chaplain in the U.S. Army Transport at sea and serving as a pro golf instructor in Puerto Rico. He earned many medals, including the European-African Middle Eastern Service Medal, the American Service Medal and the American Defense Service Medal.

After the war he returned to Princeton as pro at Springdale Golf Club where he also coached the Princeton University golf team. From 1950 until he retired in 1984 he worked as a golf pro at various places, such as Yeaman's Hall, Charleston, S.C., Ausable Club, Keene Valley, N.Y., Indian Creek, Miami, Fla., Sunny Jim's in Medford, N.J. and at the Rutgers golf course in Piscataway. Upon retirement he continued giving golf lessons in private sessions.

Mr. Carnevale was known among area residents and golf pros and golf enthusiasts for his story telling as he recounted his friendships and encounters with famous people. He was proud of the fact that he had shaken the hands of 30 U.S. Open winners and had given lessons or tips to Vince Lombardi, Seve Ballesteros, Lawrence Taylor and Chi Chi Rodriquez, among others.

During his later years he could be found almost every day at dawn at the Princeton Battlefield Park driving many buckets of balls and attracting many new students as he did so. He was a member of the Professional Golf Association for more than 25 years and was a mentor and sometimes traveling advisor to Bill King, the 1988 and 1993 New Jersey PGA champion. The annual New Jersey State Mid-Amateur competition awards the "Gigi" Carnevale Trophy in his honor.

Son of the late Achille Carnevale and Olinda Perna, and brother of the late Anthony Carnevale, Margaret C. Mondone, Raymond Carnevale, Raphael (Ray) Carnevale, Elivinia Speranza and Jennie Carnevale, he is survived by two sisters, Jean Guerzini and Amelia (Molly) Briggs, both of Princeton; seven nieces, Arlene Carnevale Sannino of Ewing Township, Madeline Speranza Infanti of Hamilton Township, Doris Briggs Britton of Mercerville, Alice Briggs Cruser of Hamilton Square, Nancy Briggs Moss of Princeton, Barbara Briggs Wright of Hamilton Square, and Linda Mondone of Princeton; and four nephews, Ralph Carnevale of Hamilton Square, Richard Speranza of Whiting, David Guerzini of Princeton and Peter Speranza of Hamilton Township.

The adult education program this Sunday at Nassau Presbyterian Church will feature William H. Scheide, founder and former director of the Bach Aria Group, giving his "Thoughts on Bach, History and Society."

Bach's background and origin was in a society of Lutheran peasants. Its serious musical center was the organ and what was called "concerted church music." These were the ideals to which Bach dedicated himself in 1708 and which he realized at Leipzig in 1723-26.

Mr. Scheide will discuss these ideals and their cultural significance as well as why the music from this period is less well known. YES, on the job site every day since 1958, when I started my own local painting business and witnessed dozens of so-called professional painting companies starting and disappearing every year. My success in remaining on top is based on my service, quality, convenience with guaranteed professional workmanship and the price is right, too!

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

HOW TO PRICE YOUR HOME

You have seen it all over the years — interest rates rise and fall, sales prices escalate and decline. No matter what phase the market is in, it is always important to price your home in the Princeton area competitively. How can you price your home with confidence?

The first step is to contact a professional Realtor for a market analysis. The Realtor will look at recent sales of comparable homes in your area and give you information about other properties that are currently on the market. By comparing the size location and condition of your home to the competition, your agent can help you determine what to ask for your home. Even in an active market, an inflated price may frighten prospective buyers away. A house that is over-priced can take additional weeks or months to sell, and the final sale price may even be lower than if the sellers had started out more realistically. The price is based on market conditions, comparable sales, and our years of experience in the marketplace.

For dependable individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Please feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

PONDER THIS PRINCETON: Apathy means essentially a lack of concern, interest or emotion. Where I have personally seen wrongs and decided to do battle with them. I have often asked for your help (look at the Princeton Soccer Association for example, lots of people made it happen but in the beginning there were only 2 pushing for change — I was one) as I'm doing now and I will not allow you the luxury of being apathetic. So, join me! Or I will force you to fight for improvement. Fight me or fight your convictions. You see I will not allow you to go, nor allow me to slip in to hell quietly. Our only real chance for personal peace and a better society is to do the right thing now and always! Presented for your enrichment by Gary S. Grover.
